

Cake!

Have you ever wondered why cake takes center stage at weddings? Traditionally, it's a symbol of luck and unity, while cutting the cake is a gesture of the couples' new life together.

Simple but elegant tiered cake

Traditional cake with flair

Not so traditional tiered berry cheese cake

If you've been following along, you'll know we're all about personalization. Your wedding should reflect your unique bond as a couple. Every choice, from décor to dessert, should resonate with what you both cherish. For many, this includes iconic wedding cake. But what if cake isn't your thing?

Tiered cookie confection

Tiered cheese & fruit

Tiered carved fruit

Fear not! Whether you're dreaming of an elegant, tiered masterpiece or something entirely creative and unexpected, there are countless ways to make your celebration uniquely yours. From cupcakes to donut walls, the options are endless.

If you love the idea of a tiered confection, there are many ways to interpret from plain to fancy and from traditional to creative. Not a fan of cake? What about a tiered cheese and fruit display, carved watermelon or tiered cookie confection to mimic the traditional tiered "cake".

If you want to go in a different direction altogether, your imagination is the limit. A Viennese table featuring an abundant variety of petit fours, chocolates, fruit and miniature pastries, crepe station, ice cream bar and pie bar, ice cream sandwiches prepared to order, or the chocolate fountain that is making a comeback!