Themed “Classical and Modern Intertwined”, the Chamber Concert’s inaugural performance brought together an exceptional lineup of musical virtuosos. The joint performance featured Tymur Melnyk, a gifted young violinist from Austria, Tracy Liu Wen, a laureate of numerous international violin competitions, and Wang Zhechen, a piano artist from the China Conservatory of Music. Two violins and one piano were performed in the lavish and artistic setting of the Presidential Suite. The music flowed with alternating passions and serenity, weaving a dreamlike tapestry of melodies that entranced the audience with a symphony of perfect harmony.

This Éclat Chamber Concert meticulously curated its repertoire to match the overall style of the Presidential Suite, a delightful interplay of Western and Eastern art. Within the Suite’s opulent living room, the Italian piano Fazioli F212 radiated a charming glow, with its keys dancing in unison with the violins' quivering strings to create a concerto of harmonious sound. The enchanting melodies floated through the corridors, caressing Salvador Dalí's manuscripts on the wall, dancing behind playful screens, and resting gracefully upon paintings and sculptures. Carried with the gentle breeze of the terrace and the tranquillity of the pond, the music ultimately nestled into the hearts of its audience and ignited a lingering sensation. This was indeed a sensory feast where sight and sound enhanced each other beautifully.

The launch of the Éclat Chamber Concert has ushered in a monthly-themed concert series and commemorated the 10-year establishment of Hotel Éclat Beijing. Looking ahead, Hotel Éclat Beijing is set to host a series of colorful and artistic 10th anniversary celebrating events, ranging from concerts to art exhibitions.
