THERMAL SPRINGS RIVER

A man in dark swim trunks stands on a large, mossy rock in the middle of a crystal-clear turquoise river. The river is surrounded by a dense, lush tropical forest with tall trees and thick foliage. The water is so clear that the rocks on the bottom are visible.

A close-up photograph of a thermal sensor assembly. The central component is a white, cylindrical object with a textured surface. A small, rectangular, orange-colored label with the word "THERMAL" in black capital letters is attached to the side. Above the label, a small, cylindrical, metallic component is visible, which appears to be a sensor or a probe. The entire assembly is surrounded by a rough, textured material, possibly a thermal insulation or a mounting structure. The lighting is warm and focused on the central assembly.
