History of The Buccaneer

The Buccaneer is a completely modern hotel with a fascinating historical background that is interwoven with the history of the island of St. Croix. It was in 1653 that Charles Martel, a Knight of Malta, constructed the first building on Estate Shoys, where The Buccaneer is located.

Martel placed his French Great House (now overlooking our Arcade swimming pool) out of sight of the sea. This placement protected him from roving foes as he operated his tobacco and indigo plantation. Later, Michael Schoy, from whom the Estate Shoys area received its name, bought the estate and began growing cotton. After the Danes bought the island in 1733, the French Great House was turned into a sugar factory and the sugar mill was built, which still stands as it did in the days when "Sugar was King."

The first Armstrongs came to St. Croix from Scotland in 1723. Douglas Armstrong purchased this property in 1922 and operated it as a cattle ranch. In December of 1947, Douglas and Rachel Armstrong opened The Buccaneer for business with eleven guest rooms in the original Great House, and accepted their first guests in January 1948. The Buccaneer was the first hotel on St. Croix built and operated by an island family, and the first hotel in the Virgin Islands with screened windows, hot water and real closets.

Guests – known as "continentals" – made a two-day trip from the mainland to stay here. They often mixed their own drinks, helped rake the beach, painted furniture and planned meals. In the early days, before modern tourism attractions, guests gathered nightly for cocktails. Today, The Buccaneer offers live music and fine dining for nightlife diversions, but maintains the repertoire of cocktails popular among early guests, including "Cruzan Confusion," "Raising Cane," "Caribbean Sunset" and "Jump-Up-and-Kiss-Me."

Many guests with interesting occupations have become part of The Buccaneer family. The great stage actress Helen Hayes vacationed at The Buccaneer for many years. Once, while looking for shells to make Christmas decorations for the holiday tables, Helen Hayes found a skull at the beach. Other guests then unearthed a pair of skeletons, each with a sharp cut through the ribs on the right side of the back. The coroner estimated that the remains must be at least 100 years old. The skulls and bones were reburied, and have now been lost in the sands of time.

Searching for treasure has been popular at The Buccaneer since the early days, encouraged by the tale of the Pirate Martel. The name may only be a coincidence, but in January of 1717, the Pirate Martel was driven from Christiansted Harbor and took shelter just west of the plantation with the same name. Eventually the Pirate Martel escaped onto our Grotto Beach. Captain Hume of the HMS Scarborough attacked the pirates for five days, but several pirates escaped ashore with Martel and alas, no treasure has been found . . . yet.

Other famous Buccaneers who have visited with us include President Jimmy Carter, Lauren Bacall, Maureen O'Hara, Marian Anderson, Jason Robards, Jr., Hugh Downs, Gladys Knight, John Amos, Anne Klein, Susan Lucci, Sonia Braga, Gary Hart, Morgan Freeman, Michael Jackson, Kathleen Turner, RL Stine, Tim Duncan, Kathy Ireland, Danny Glover, Kathy Ireland and Bill O'Reilly. Vice President Joe Biden enjoyed golf and meals at the resort for many years, and Martha Stewart spent time relaxing at Mermaid Beach.

Robert Armstrong took over operations from his mother in the early 1960's and expanded The Buccaneer from 52 rooms to 138. He modernized and expanded The Buccaneer into the truly world-class and luxurious resort that it is today. Elizabeth A. Armstrong became General Manager in 1994, and today she continues the tradition of family ownership, overseeing daily operations alongside an energetic and loyal group of employees, some of whom have worked at the resort since the early days. Under her watch, the resort has expanded to now include 141 guest rooms and suites along with a private, six-bedroom beachfront villa. Although The Buccaneer is a great deal larger than when it first opened, it still retains the gracious atmosphere of the original estate and has become one of the leading luxury resorts in the Caribbean. A member of the prestigious Historic Hotels of America, a program of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, The Buccaneer is one of three hotels in the Caribbean to be so designated.

Coral reefs are living animals and home to other creatures, like the spiny sea urchin. Coral is fragile and will die if stepped upon. Please do not touch or walk on coral as you may injure yourself on the sharp edges or by the sea urchins spines. In the waters around our island it is possible to see a lion fish inside a crevice of the reef, or a scorpion fish lying on the sand; both can give a painful sting if touched. Be mindful of where you are so the waves do not push you onto the reef. Please keep trash and plastic bags out of the water as they can damage birds and the endangered sea turtle. Help us keep our coral reefs and waters healthy for future generations. The U.S. Virgin Islands have banned sunscreen containing oxybenzone, octocrylene, and octinoxate to help protect our coral reefs. Approved products are available in our Gift Shop.

Snorkel Guide for Grotto and Mermaid Beaches

Mermaid Beach

Grotto Beach

The Mermaid

If you are interested in exploring, The Mermaid Garden at Mermaid Beach is our Beach Attendant recommended spot. The reef system off Mermaid Beach is fed by the current passing between Buck Island, Green Cay, and St Croix. This results in forests of gorgonians and sea fans, brain corals, fire coral and healthy populations of reef fish.

You might also see a passing turtle!

Directions

Once in the water, head straight for the waves passing the last orange buoy. This is where you'll see large rock formations.

Head counterclockwise to use the current to round the reef/waves then continue back to the beach.

The depth at this reef is between 0-10ft. Always stay in at least 5ft of water and NEVER enter the waves.

NOTE: There can be very strong currents on the outer edge of this reef. Always snorkel with a buddy and never exceed your physical ability or experience.

The Grotto

This beach is an excellent spot for off-shore snorkeling. The area is shallow which makes it a great place for the beginner snorkeler. Along the way you will see beautiful hard and soft corals, as well as a large variety of tropical fish.

Directions

Enter water through GREEN BUOYS, turn left and follow the rock bed along the shoreline. Remember to snorkel only over sand as it is too shallow to snorkel over the rock bed.

We hope you enjoy the use of our complimentary snorkel gear during your stay. If you wish to purchase snorkel equipment to take home with you, please see the concierge for pricing.

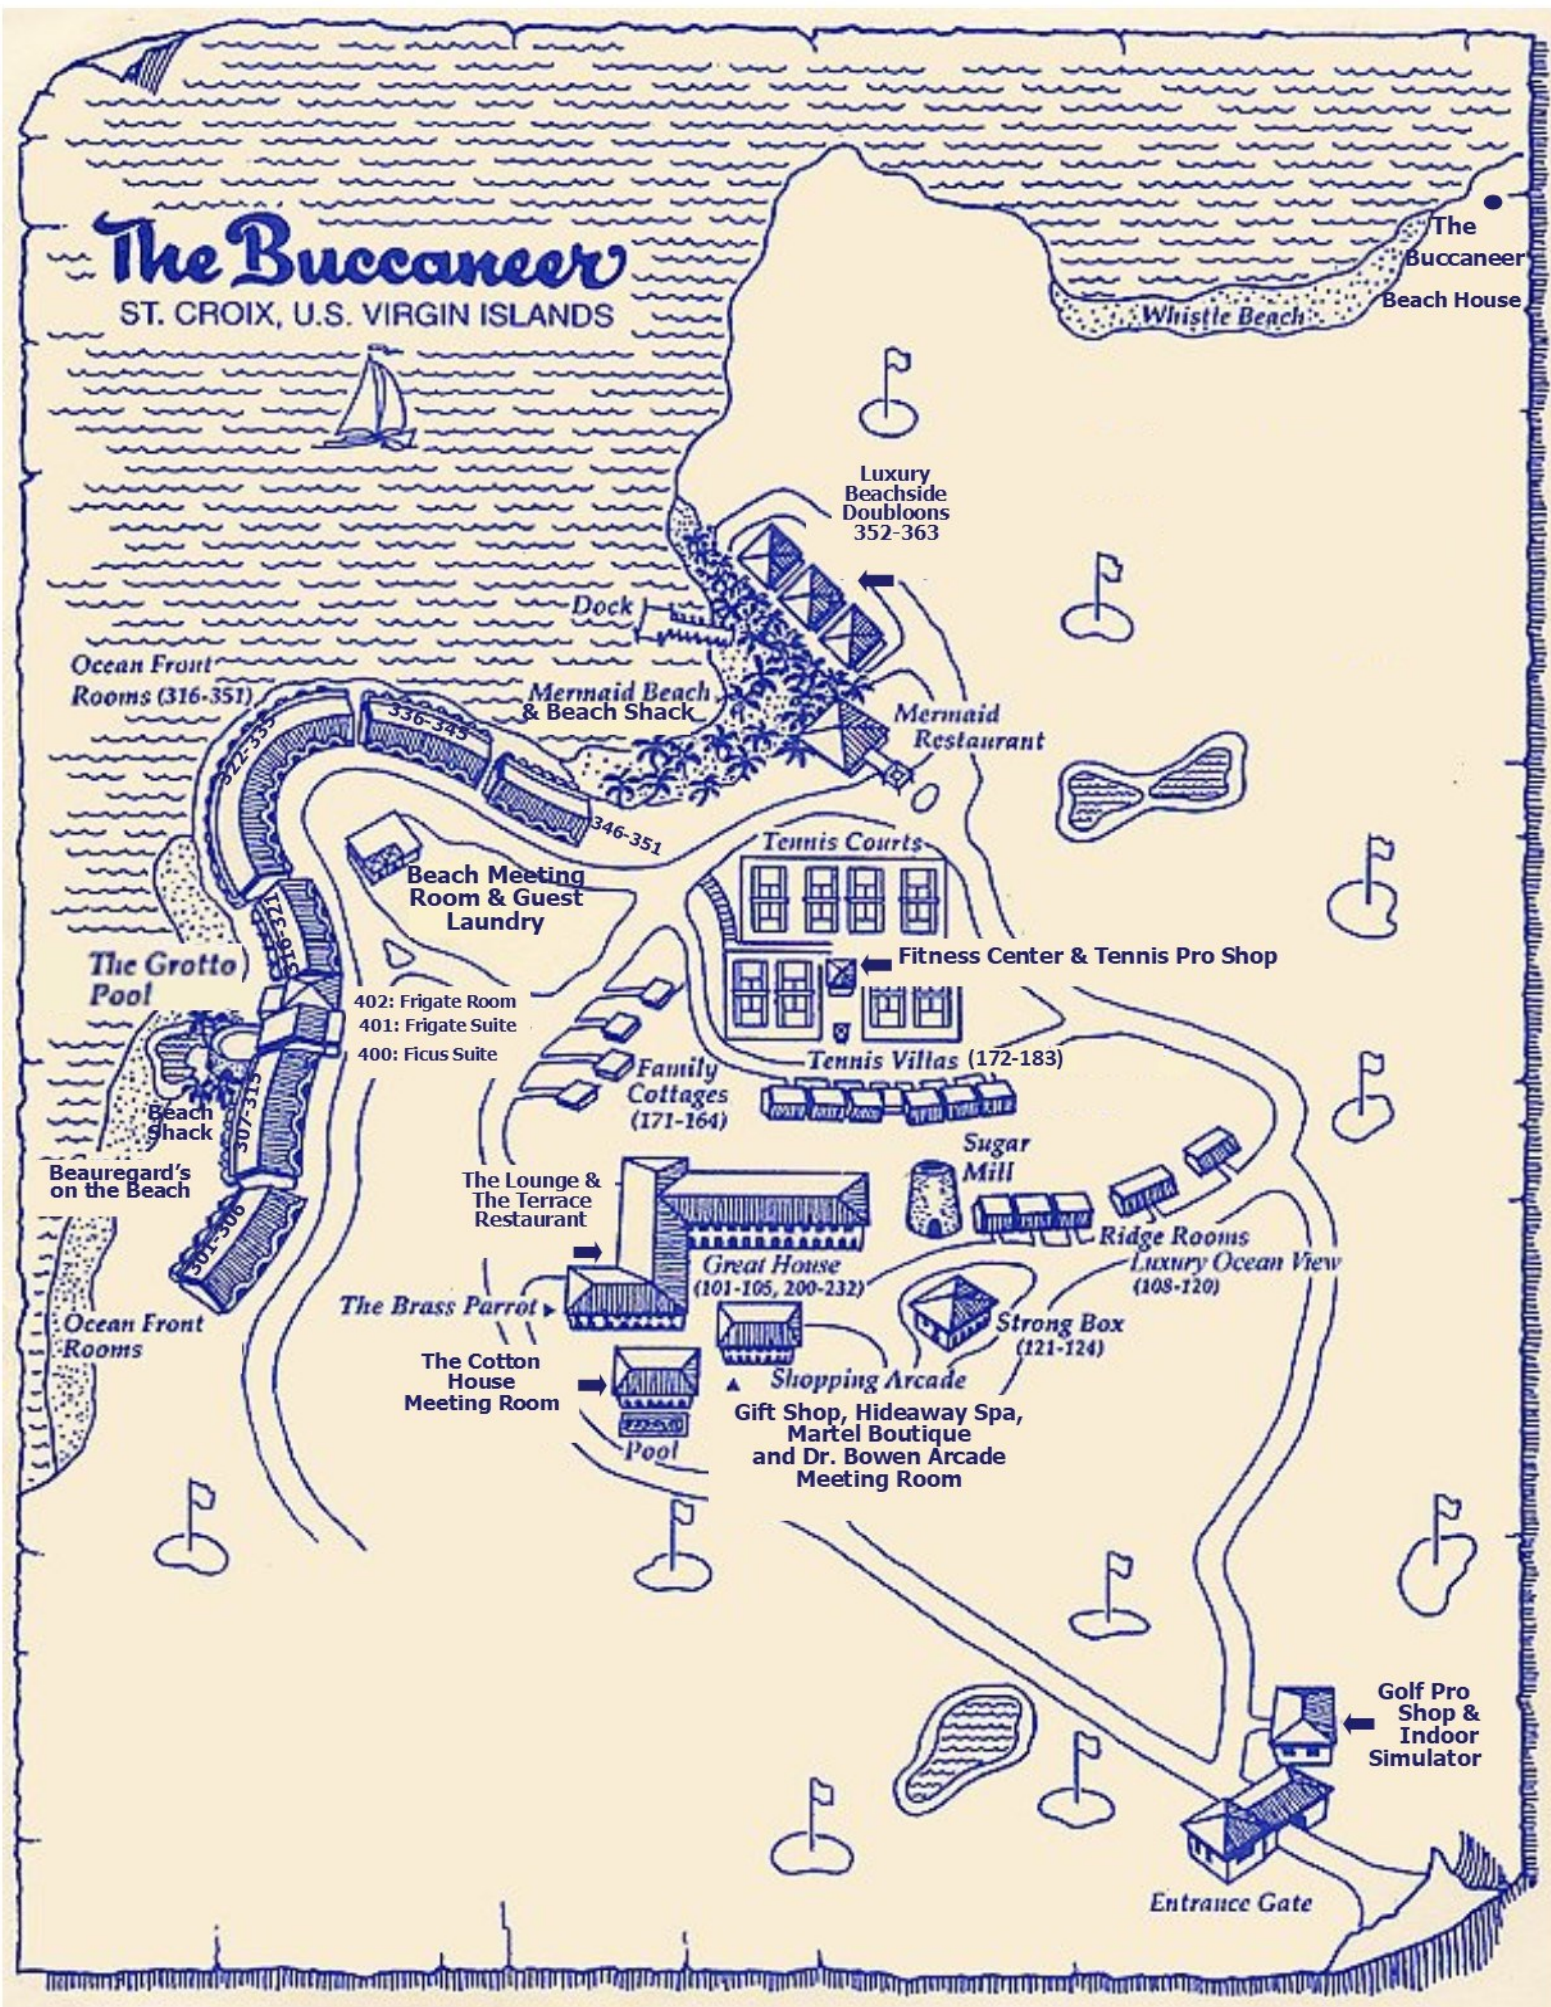

If the complimentary snorkel gear is not left in your room upon departure, a charge of $50 will be applied to your room folio.

Please use common sense Coral reefs are living animals and home to other creatures, like the spiny sea urchin. Please do not touch or walk on coral as you may injure yourself on the sharp edges or by the sea urchin spines as well as damage the fragile reef. In the waters around our island it is possible to see a Lionfish inside a crevice of the reef, or a scorpion fish lying on the sand, both can give a painful sting if touched. Be mindful of where you are so the waves do not push you onto the reef. Please keep trash and plastic bags out of the water as they can damage birds and the endangered sea turtle. Wear reef safe, oxybenzone-free sunscreen to help protect our coral reefs.

Sunscreen can be found in our gift shop and in dive shops downtown. Help us keep our coral reefs and waters healthy for future generations.
