Built in 1530, this is one of the oldest parks in Beijing that once served as an altar site. Now it is a pleasant place for walking & jogging around extensive gardens and a small lake.

Taikoo Li Sanlitun

Taikoo Li Sanlitun is one of Beijing's most popular lifestyle destinations. This sleek plaza - a favorite of expats and hip locals - is ringed with over 200 retail outlets and more than 40 dining outlets.

A City of Infinite Possibilities

Enjoy Beijing's Night Life at Nali Patio

Several floors of great eats and boutiques, including Migas, Niajo, Mosto, Moka Bros, and High Town. Find a roof top bar here and it is time to relax.

The Famous Silk Market

Silk Market Beijing, is a prosperous shopping market in the city. Used to be an outdoor market, it now becomes a shopping mall, which accommodates over 1,000 retailers and is regarded as one of the symbols of Beijing together with the Great Wall, the Summer Palace, and roast duck. Many foreign visitors, including some celebrities, enjoy Silk Market Beijing for shopping or having their clothes tailor-made.

DAY THREE

Refreshing Breakfast

Embark on your journey starting with a delicious and nutritious breakfast at Éclat Lounge or serve directly at your room.

Shopping at Parkview Green FangCaoDi

Parkview Green FangCaoDi is in one of Beijing's prime locations, right in the heart of the Central Business District. Beijing has never seen a building like this before, a stunningly-designed, environmentally-friendly and spectacular piece of modern architecture, thus made it become the first integrated commercial project to be awarded LEED Green Building Rating System Platinum certification. It is set to become an iconic landmark of the capital city, with office towers, a shopping mall and an art museum.

A Shopaholic's Paradise

Dinner at Opera Bombana

Taste the art of Italian cuisine at Chef Umberto Bombana's restaurant, delivering a unique interpretation of great Italian food in the forms of restaurant, bakery, pastry, cocktails and coffee.

Afternoon Tea at George's Bar

The exquisite Afternoon Tea menu consists of six sweets and flavorful fruity desserts. It won't be complete without a variety of house made scones along with gourmet coffee and tea.
