Did You Know?

Great Horned Owl

Great Horned Owls cannot move their eyes up, down, or side to side like humans can so they have evolved the ability to rotate their heads approximately 270 degrees. They have 14 neck bones.... Humans have 7.

Northern Flying Squirrels use a furry skin membrane called a patagium that stretches between their wrists and ankles, they can glide over 100 feet from trees to evade predators, steer with their tails, and actually glow neon pink under UV light.

Northern Flying Squirrel

Adult male Eastern Hellbenders are living water quality indicators. Because they breathe through their skin, they are highly sensitive to pollution, meaning a healthy hellbender population indicates a healthy, clean stream.

Eastern Hellbender Salamander

American Black Bear

Although large animals, black bears are surprisingly quick and agile. They can sprint up to 35 miles per hour and climb 100 feet up a tree within 30 seconds.

Red Fox

Red foxes have excellent hearing and can hear low-frequency sounds, allowing them to locate rodents, like mice, even when they are digging underground or 100 feet away.
