Who we are

Our belief

At Richmond Hill Hotel, we want guests to remember us long after they leave. That's why we go out of our way to create unique experiences for our guests.

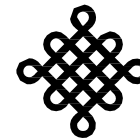

Our truth

We are London's gateway to nature. Uniquely placed upon Richmond Hill – giving access to both bustling city and breathtaking nature.

Our purpose

In an ever busy world of hospitality it can be difficult to be remembered. We're not just hoteliers. We're memory makers.

Our behaviour

Above all it's our characterful charm that always leaves a lasting impression, from our 300 year history, to the diverse personal styles of our amazing team.

Our brand values

authentic

We genuinely care for each other, our guests, and the world we live in.

Rather than reading from a script or putting on a persona, our approach is all about bringing the very best version of ourselves to work every day.

Dislikes: Rigid guidelines

colourful

We are a vibrant, joyful space full of feel-good people. A Richmond Hill Hotel experience should always leave people with a smile.

From our people to our paint – we are a refreshing break from the cookie-cutter hotel chain experience.

Dislikes: Bland / Samey-ness

creative

Versus the big budget competition, it's our treating of our profession as a creative pursuit that really sets us apart.

We make things happen in a month that would take a chain years. We are agile, bold and full of fun ideas. And that goes for every single person on the team – a game changing idea can come from anyone, anytime.

Dislikes: Red tape

From the way we engage with our community to the everyday interactions with our guests, we are known for always going that extra bit further than others do.

We take our time with people and tasks. Never rushing or skimping.

Dislikes: Short cuts
