Amboseli Afforestation

Take part in our afforestation programme!

Each tree you plant positively impacts the Amboseli ecosystem.

Join our team in their daily quest to save Amboseli and her wildlife by planting indigenous trees. In the process, you get to reduce the carbon footprint. Amboseli Serena has managed to plant over 1.5 million trees in what was once a dry and very dusty place. Tree planting can be done at any time of the day that is convenient for you. Go on, be the change!

Wild Safaris and Game Drives

Catch the gentle giants in their natural habitat

Amboseli National Park is a safe haven to a very unique herd of African elephants. Amboseli National park is home to the largest herds of African elephants. The park is home to numerous animal species, among them, 66 elephant families.

The iconic photo of a big jumbo against the background of Mt. Kilimanjaro is that one shot you must capture while on safari here.

Bubbly Sundowner at the Observation Hill

Magic happens everytime the sun peers behind Mt. Kilimanjaro!

With plenty of game to see, your evening game drive is likely to be filled with the delights of spotting game against the majestic Mt. Kilimanjaro. The crowning moment comes when you reach the observation hill for your sundowner.

Elevated above the seasonal Amboseli marshes where elephants and other game wallow in the mud and feed on the lush vegetation, the observation hill gives you a commanding view of the Amboseli ecosystem as you relax to enjoy idyllic sunsets and sip on a glass of bubbly.
