2023 | Ca' Marcanda Vistamare | Tuscany, Italy

The only white wine produced by the Gaja family in Tuscany is a textural blend of Vermentino, Fiano and Viognier. The generous and slightly marine nose is followed by a remarkable complexity of roundness and herbaceous notes.

2023 | Pieropan Calvarino Soave Classico | Veneto, Italy

Pieropan family's tradition in wine date to 1901, when they purchase the historical Calvarino vineyard. The volcanic soils and the steep slopes produce a rich and mineral driven wine, famous as it was the first Italian white wine labelled as single vineyard.

2023 | Cordero di Montezemolo, Langhe Nebbiolo | Piemonte, Italy

19th generation winemaker Alberto is carrying a long tradition of mastering Nebbiolo. The varietal is known for its refined tannins which are the perfect match with our famous Cotoletta a la Milanese.

2021 | Elena Walch | Vigna Kastelaz | Alto Adige, Italy

This is a distinguished white wine crafted from a renowned single vineyard in Tramin, Italy. Situated on a steep, south-facing slope, the Vigna Kastelaz vineyard produces a full-bodied wine with a creamy texture, balanced by fine saline undertones and a refreshing acidity. This is one of the best Gewürztraminer produced in Europe.

2021 | Armand Heitz Chassagne Montrachet 1er Cru, La Maltroie | Bourgogne, France

This is a refined expression of Chardonnay from Burgundy's esteemed Côte de Beaune region. Sourced from the La Maltroie Premier Cru vineyard, this wine showcases the distinctive terroir of calcareous brown soils rich in marl, contributing to its depth and aromatic complexity.

2019 | Elvio Cogno, Barolo Cascina Nuova | Piemonte, Italy

Young vines can make a great Barolo that can be enjoyed without having to wait 20 years. This is what Valter wanted to prove, and it has been achieved with brio. This textbook Barolo shows intense aromas of rose petals and present itself in a delicate tannin structure true to its origine.

2011 | Château La Tour Blanche, Sauternes, 1er Grand Cru Classé | Bordeaux, France

One of my longtime favorite Châteaux in Sauternes. The Château, and its vineyards, was gifted by his previous owner to the French government in 1909 with one condition: they had to create a winemaking school within its walls. 2011 was a brilliant vintage for La Tour Blanch and the wine shows hint of confit pineapple and vanilla.

2022 | Alfio Cosentino, Vigna Don Paolo, Etna Bianco | Sicilia, Italy

This expressiophn of Carricante from the volcanic soils of Mt. Etna displays an energy bursting with citrus oils, white flowers and a good pinch of salt. The palate is rich while still having bright acid to wrap around the fruit.

2023 | Domaine de la Suffrene, Bandol | Provence, France

Embrace the holiday feeling with this rich rosé from the famous hills of Bandol; perfect combination with our lobster pasta.

2022 | Cantalici, Baruffo Chianti Classico | Tuscany, Italy

This is Italy's most famous red wine. A gorgeous Sangiovese, with a hint of rusticity; enhancing the charred flavor of the rib-eye.

Tenute Dettori has been leading the way on a natural approach to Sardinian winemaking. Famous for its floral and exotic aromas, this Moscato brings sweetness with a vibrant acidity, with a hint of saltiness.

2022 | Whittmann, Aurlde Riesling GG | Rheinhessen, Germany

From cult German winemaker, Philipp Wittmann this Riesling is super clear, refined and elegant with a deep and pure nose thanks to vines planted in 1949 and 1959. Generous exotic fruit and spice are balanced by a pure and mineral structure.

2021 | Elena Walch Beyond the Clouds Chardonnay | Alto Adige, Italy

Alto Adige's first super cuvée was born in 2000. Ever since, Elena Walch and her two daughters have been producing one of Italy's best chardonnays.

2018 | Colleoni, Rosso di Montalcino | Tuscany, Italy

In 2018 Marino made a strict selection for his Riserva and decided to declassify the grapes from his Brunello di Montalcino vineyards into this amazing Rosso. This is dense, serious and highly balanced with mineral notes and great vibrancy.

2022 | La Tosa, Colli Piacentini, Sorriso di Cielo | Emilia Romagna, Italy

Created in 1991 following a wish from the producer to show his love for this varietal. Some consider it as an alternative to Gewürztraminer but don't let this fool you. This is a dry textural white packing a great deal of flavours.

2022 | Te Mata, Cape Crest | Hawkes Bay, New Zealand

This was the first commercial winery in New Zealand. The Buck's have taken over since 1974, and Cape crest is their take on a white Bordeaux blend, blending grassy barrel age sauvignon blended with semillon and sauvignon gris for freshness and acidity.

2021 | Perticaia, Trebbiano Spoletino | Umbria, Italy

Crafted in the only Central Italian region away from a littoral, this wine shows vegetal and grassy notes.

2022 | Cordero di Montezemolo, Langhe Nebbiolo | Piemonte, Italy

2023 | Quintarelli, Bianco Secco | Veneto, Italy

World renowned winery in the heart of Veneto, extremely famous for their Amarone but we often forget this white blend. There is a lots of Minerality, and tensions lifted up by a great tropical body and an almost salty finish.
