- That risks are identified and appropriate control measures are in place to eliminate, reduce or control them.
- That fire safety performance is monitored and reviewed regularly.
- That appropriate contingency plans and resources are provided to deal with fire incidents efficiently.
- Any fire incident is investigated thoroughly and any outcomes reported to the business and incorporated into policy and process as appropriate.

Cooperation & Communication

Whilst the responsibility for managing fire safety primarily rests with the General Manager, the company requires the cooperation of the Executive Team, hotel management team, team members, customers, members and contractors in meeting the objectives of this policy.
