Aman Venice

Venice, Italy

Housed in a meticulously restored 16th-century palazzo, Aman Venice sets the scene for an unforgettable stay. The twenty-four guest rooms combine the heritage opulence of a palazzo with the elegant minimalism synonymous with the Aman brand. No trip to Italy would be complete without a proper appreciation of the country's rich culinary traditions. Onsite Italian offering, Arva at Aman Venice is rooted in the tradition of cucina semplice, literally translated as simple kitchen, a concept emphasizing the use of seasonal, sustainable produce. In keeping with this philosophy, Executive Chef Matteo Panfilio heads to the Rialto market every morning to get the freshest ingredients from local suppliers, crafting them into the day's menu at Arva. Guests have the opportunity to join him on his morning market strolls, learning how to choose the best ingredients and bringing them back to The Palazzo Kitchen for a private cooking class. Step out of the rustic simplicity of the Palazzo Kitchen and into the opulent Red Room, which houses The Bar. Once the sight of held high-society soirées, this warm, silk-lined room is the perfect place to watch the sunset over the Grand Canal while sipping on a bespoke cocktail from their award-winning mixologist.
