ISLAND OF LIGHT - SICILY

Sicily is a "wine continent" of dramatic contrasts. From the sun-drenched coastal plains to the high-altitude volcanic peaks, the island's diverse microclimates produce wines of incredible energy. While the south is known for its Mediterranean warmth, the volcanic soul of the northeast has emerged as one of the most prestigious wine regions in the world.

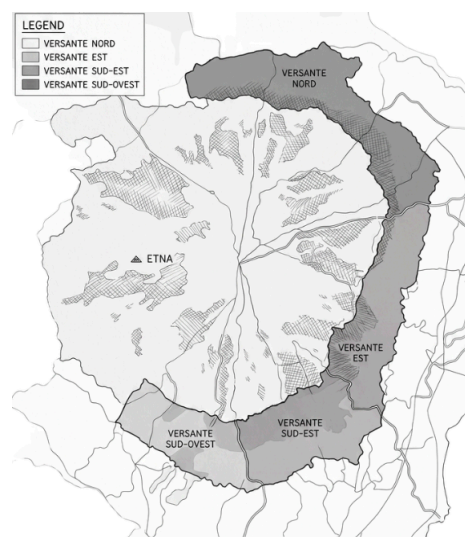

THE VARIETAL RENAISSANCE

Beyond the volcano, Sicily thrives with indigenous gems. From the coastal limestone of Vittoria to the high hills of Monreale, these wines showcase the island's incredible biodiversity.

ETNA & THE CONTRADE

Mount Etna is Europe's most active volcano. Its viticulture is defined by Contrade, historic districts shaped by ancient lava flows. These volcanic sands and "pietra lavica" (lava stones) impart a distinct mineral tension and elegance. Here, altitude is key: vines can reach over 1,000m, resulting in wines with the structural finesse of Barolo and the ethereal perfume of Burgundy.

VALDOBBIADENE

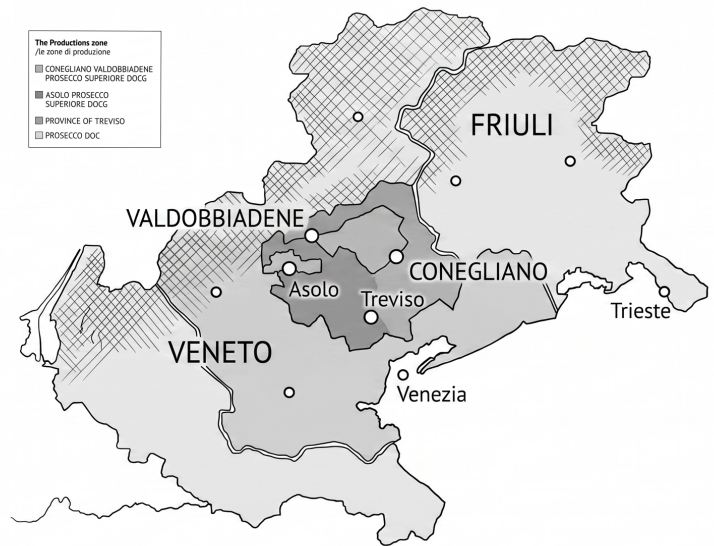

What is.... Valdobbiadene DOCG?

Coming from the heart of the Veneto region just a short hour drive north of Venice, the history of Prosecco is born on the rolling hills between the towns of Valdobbiadene and Conegliano.

Here on these lush green hills, vine growing has been widespread since the times of the Romans.

Glera, the variety used in the production of Prosecco is king here and grows in the perfectly optimal conditions to elevate Prosecco Valdobbiadene DOCG from examples coming from surrounding areas outside these borders as well as now abroad in the new world.

The Prosecco produced here is a more refined wine with a freshness of fruit, a creamy mouthfeel and fine bead of consistent bubbles to make it not only a perfect aperitivo but a wine to match with food.

FRANCIACORTA

What is.... Franciacorta DOCG?

Often referred to as Italy's answer to Champagne, Franciacorta is a pristine wine growing region in Lombardy.

Located below Lake Iseo, one of the great lakes of northern Italy, between the River Oglio and the city of Brescia here Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Bianco thrive in the natural amphitheatre created by glacier expansions millions of years ago.

Blessed with cool Alpine breezes flowing down from the north which help temper the humid heat of the summer and assist in maintaining acidity, freshness and aromatic notes of the fruit, all of which help produce a wine of elegance and extreme quality.

FRESH, ZESTY, RACY AND LEAN

From the crispness of Cortese and Aligoté to the coastal freshness of Vermentino, here we find wines with high acidity and a light, vibrant body. These varietals including Grüner Veltliner, Riesling, and Sauvignon Blanc are zesty and incredibly refreshing. Their sharp, clean finish makes them the perfect match for the fresh seafood from our Antipasteria and the fried dishes from our Friggitoria.

RIPE, TEXTURAL, SUBSTANTIAL AND GENEROUS

In this section, we highlight wines with a more generous body, captivating texture, and defined fruit profiles. From the floral elegance of Arneis and Garganega to the stony depth of Carricante and Verdicchio, these varieties offer a more substantial mouthfeel. Including Mediterranean classics like Falanghina and Fiano, along with the waxy complexity of Semillon, these wines are often balanced by a backbone of mineral tones. They are the perfect companions for our fresh cheeses in the Antipasteria or the rich seafood pastas of our Spaghetteria.

RICH, PLUSH, BOLD AND OPULENT

From unique Italian expressions like the powerful Timorasso to classical varieties such as Chardonnay, here we find wines with remarkable depth and weight. Whether through the use of oak, malolactic fermentation, or the natural intensity of grapes like Gewürztraminer and Rhône blends, these whites are opulent, plush, and rich. With their incredible breadth of flavour, they are designed to pair beautifully with the more substantial seafood dishes and grilled specialities found in our Bisteccheria.

TIMORASSO

What is...Timorasso?

Timorasso is an ancient, indigenous white variety that has in recent years be championed and brought back from almost extinction by passionate vigneroni of Piemonte to create a white wine appellation to compliment Barolo.

The prime growing area of Colli Tortonesi with its clay, chalk and stone soils provide the perfect conditions for the vines to thrive and produce fruit that make wines of refined elegance matched with precise fruit, great body and a rich mouthfeel.

Now loved and championed by many any Italian or worldly Sommelier.

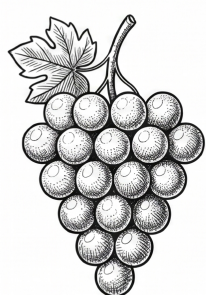

Amber wines are made from white wine grapes which have spent an extended period resting on their skins to develop textural and savoury notes and flavours beyond their usual white iterations. In this section you'll find our selection of amber wines that drink beautifully with seafood from both our Antipasteria and Bisteccheria as well as the salumi.

ORANGE WINES - AMBER WINES

Amber/Orange wines, or skin-contact white wines, are produced from white grape varieties vinified using techniques typical of red winemaking. Fermentation involves prolonged contact between the juice and the grape skins, often in terracotta amphorae or open-top wooden vats. This winemaking decision allows for the extraction of colour, tannins, and a unique aromatic complexity.

FRESH, FRUITY, LIFTED AND LIGHT

Moving into the red wines, we start with those that lie toward the fresh red berry flavours of the fruit spectrum, offering elegant structure defined by a light body and super-fine tannins. From the world-class silkiness of Pinot Noir and the volcanic mineral notes of Nerello Mascalese to the vibrant, floral charm of Cesanese, these wines are 'lifted' and incredibly versatile. Their brightness makes them a wonderful pairing for many of our lighter dishes across our different 'Rias'.

LIGHTS ON - BRUNO GIACOSA

Based in Neive, the Bruno Giacosa estate is a pillar of Italian winemaking. For over half a century, Bruno Giacosa the "Genius of Neive" honed an unparalleled ability to source the finest fruit in Langa. Whether through his estate-owned vineyards (Falletto) or his historical relationships with growers, the Giacosa name remains a global benchmark for precision, purity, and longevity.

THE FOUNDATIONS

Even in his "entry-level" bottlings, Giacosa’s commitment to quality is evident. These wines offer a window into the house style: aromatic complexity, vibrant acidity, and an uncompromising respect for the varietal.

BARBARESCO

Giacosa’s history is inextricably linked to Barbaresco. The Asili vineyard is world-renowned for its elegance, producing wines with silken textures and ethereal perfumes. The Red Label (Riserva) is a legendary designation, produced only in the most exceptional vintages and representing the pinnacle of Italian oenology.

SERRALUNGA D'ALBA

The village of Serralunga is known for the most powerful and structured expressions of Barolo. The Falletto vineyard is Giacosa's crown jewel, a natural amphitheatre that produces wines of immense depth and mineral tension.

The Red Label Heritage

In the world of fine wine, the Giacosa Red Label is iconic. It signifies a Riserva of extraordinary quality, selected from the best parcels only when the growing season reaches perfection. It is a wine built for the decades.

RIPE, SAVOURY, TANNIC AND WEIGHTED

These wines occupy the mid-range of palate weight, featuring fruit profiles that straddle both red and blue berry characteristics, along with wild forest flavours. From the iconic structure of Nebbiolo and Sangiovese to the vibrant Barbera and the sun-drenched depth of Nero d'Avola, these varietals offer a savoury complexity. Including Grenache from both the Old and New Worlds, these wines possess a solid backbone of acidity and more prominent, yet still fine, tannins. These elements make them the ultimate partner for the rich ragù of our Spaghetteria and the succulent grilled meats of our Bisteccheria.

VALPOLICELLA

Verona: Soave & Valpolicella

Verona is located in Italy's Veneto region and offers Soave(white) to the east and Valpolicella(red) to the north-west. Both regions are characterised by volcanic and limestone soils.

Soave is a dry, white wine made from the Garganega grape. Soave Classico offers high-quality grapes from the, while Soave Superiore DOPG is more structured, and often aged. Valpolicella is produced from Corvina, Rondinella, and Molinari and offers a bright palette with sour cherry flavours. Valpolicella Classico is light-bodied and unoaked, while Valpolicella Ripasso offers a more full-bodied style that is re-fermented on the skins of Amarone. Amarone della Valpolicella is the premium variety and is made from dried grapes making it complex and rich.

DEEP, BOLD, STRUCTURED AND FULL

The wines here are on the full and powerful end of the spectrum, displaying ripe, developed fruit profiles along with obvious tannins and a structure built for the richest flavours. From the velvety depth of Malbec, Primitivo, and Montepulciano to the bold, dark intensity of Shiraz, Aglianico, and Cabernet Sauvignon, these wines are truly impactful. Including the opulent Corvina blends of Amarone, these styles, both young and old, hold up perfectly to the charred, grilled meats of our Bisteccheria, or can be enjoyed as wines to sit on over long conversation.
