

Your Personal Touch

Planning your wedding is important and marks the beginning of your happily ever after. As you gather family and friends together to celebrate you will want everything to be perfect. As you embark on this journey, here's some advice to consider throughout the process.

The (sometimes daunting) planning journey can be overwhelming. Every decision from your gown to party favors and from the venue to the wedding cake, is an opportunity to showcase who you truly are. To enjoy a stress-free and memorable celebration, ensure that each element makes you feel comfortable, special and important. Your budget may dictate many of the decisions. but that doesn't mean your unique style won't shine through.

Think about weddings you have attended recently and the special, heartfelt details that the bride and groom included to make their day memorable. Personalization can come in many shapes and sizes; big gestures and small touches. Your guests will appreciate the effort and love you put into creating a unique experience. By understanding and embracing your collective style and vision, you will find that it brings a sense of ease and joy to everything that comes next.

Are you understated

or over the top?
