gordon grill

30 JULY 1963

The restaurant was first opened as Gordon Room after Mrs Ezekiel Manasseh – whose maiden name was Gordon – the wife of one of the Manasseh brothers who bought over the Hotel property in 1918, then known as the Teutonia Club. An old portrait of the Duke of Gordon which was hung in the grill room then still decorates the wall of Gordon Grill.

It has the distinction of being Singapore's first grill room, and a pioneer in offering Black Angus beef and the meat wagon. It is also the dining establishment with the longest history in Goodwood Park Hotel, a heritage icon built in 1900.

The restaurant was relocated to its current site and renamed Gordon Grill in 1965, with the Highland Bar adjacent. The Wagon of the Day was also introduced then and by 1968, Gordon Grill became well-known for its meat specialities, in particular, its steaks.

In the late 70s to early 80s, the Wagon of the Day was changed to the current meat wagon. The meat wagon remains a highlight as it is wheeled to the table to present the various cuts of beef available before service staff expertly slice and weigh each portion in front of diners prior to cooking in the kitchen. Gordon Grill is also one of the few destinations where diners can enjoy a classic Crêpe Suzette, flambéed tableside with brandy and Cointreau.

Gordon Grill continues to provide an exquisite dining experience with some of the finest steaks and refined Continental cuisine in an ambience of timeless sophistication, elevated by impeccable service.
