Zangsti Saljab

This artwork serves as an homage to the ancient Ladakhi folk song 'Zangsti Saljab,' which dates back to the time of the Silk Route.

The Silk Route, a vast network of trade routes spanning from the 2nd century onwards, intricately connected East and Southeast Asia, the Indian subcontinent, Central Asia, the Middle East, East Africa, and Europe.

In the bustling trading town of Leh, a Ladakhi girl fell deeply in love with a merchant who had arrived in town. As the merchant departed, the lyrics of the folk song tell the story of the girl's emotions as she expresses, 'All I have left of my lover are his footprints and the hoof marks of his animals.' She pleads, 'Please, do not wipe them, as they are all I possess.'

This artwork captures the essence of the Ladakhi folk song, depicting the girl's longing and connection to her departed lover. The footprints of the lover and the hoof marks of his animals are artistically portrayed, evoking nostalgia and yearning. It serves as a tribute to Ladakh's cultural heritage and the enduring allure of the Silk Route. This artwork beautifully encapsulates the bittersweet sentiment of the Ladakhi folk song, 'Zangsti Saljab.'
