DELUXE SHARM EL SHEIKH

Sharm El Sheikh's coastal location on the Red Sea makes it the most popular holiday resort in Egypt where The climate is excellent all year round and temperatures remain very consistent for most of the year.

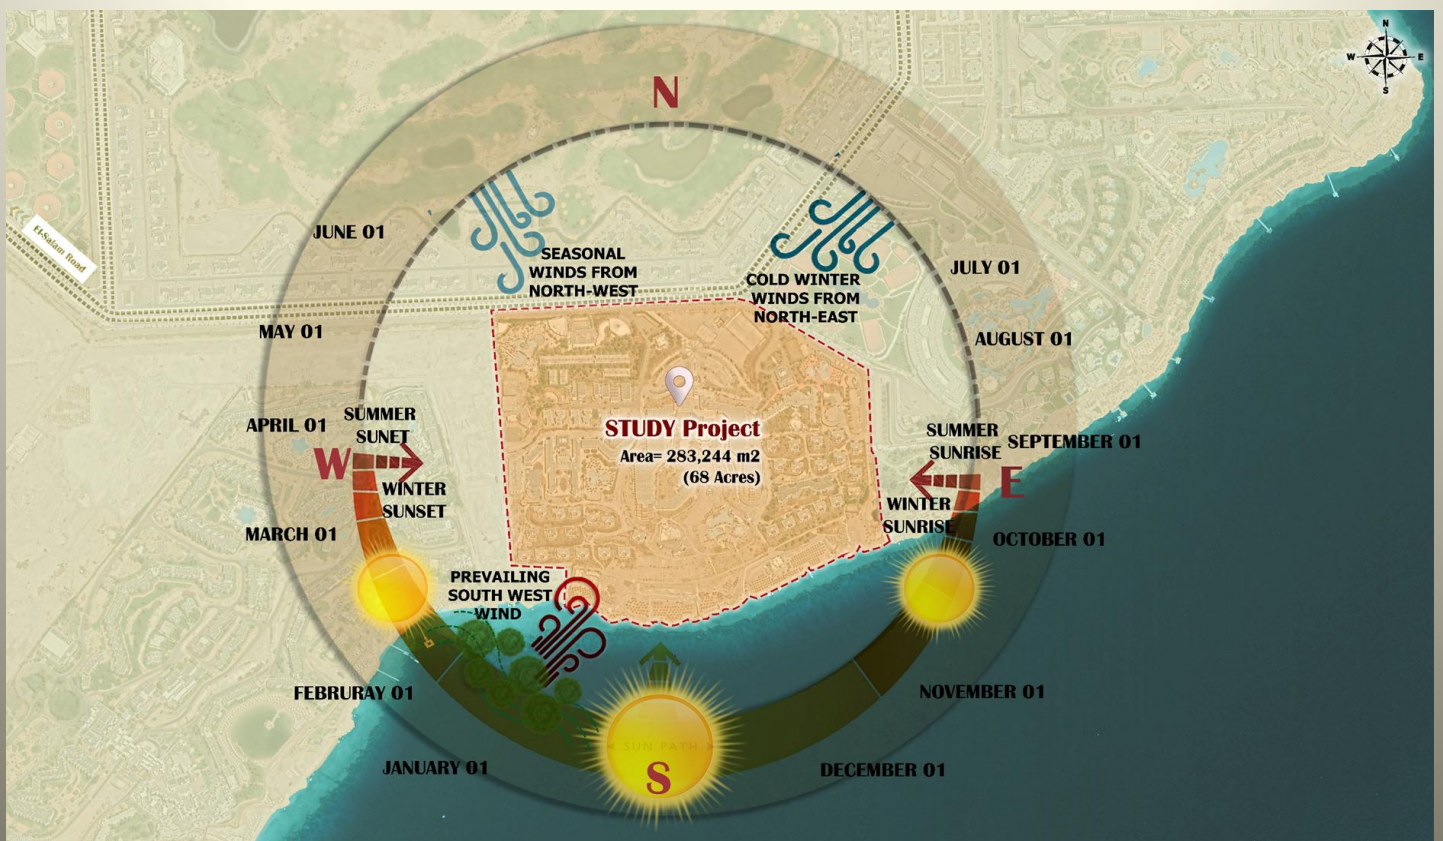

There's an average temperature of 25°C, which is very warm but it's not overly hot or humid. Having no wind in the winter season and with a fresh breeze during summer If you love to swim, the Red Sea won't let you down.

The waters are milder in the summer but remain warm throughout the year. The clear waters are great for scuba diving and snorkeling with an average temperature of around 23°C, you get a nice break from the intense heat of summer while still having enough heat and sunshine to enjoy.

Sea breezes are very pleasant and refreshing. Coastal winds bring relief from the heat and come in from the northwest and over the Red Sea. The moderating effects of the cool sea breeze and the northwest prevailing winds which come over from the Mediterranean help protect the resort from the real temperature extremes seen in the desert.

underwater the landscape is full of exotic life and color. The Red Sea coral thrives in these constantly hot and nutrient rich waters and provides a home to many rare species of marine life, such as the masked butterflyfish, the Picasso triggerfish, the red sea flasher wrasse and the red sea anemonefish.
