CIGAR
SELECTION

A grayscale photograph showing a person's hands holding a large, textured tobacco leaf. The person is wearing a plaid shirt. The background is a vast field of similar tobacco plants, creating a sense of a large-scale agricultural operation. The lighting is soft, highlighting the veins on the leaf being held.

Our curated cigars are locally produced in Jember, located in Indonesia's East Java province. Indonesia is one of the oldest producers of quality cigar tobacco in the world, with a leaf-growing history that dates back to the late 1700s.
