SAL Y SOL

Shaped by the Atlantic

A SENSE OF WELL-BEING

Perched at the edge of the land, where volcanic rock meets the Atlantic, the spa at Precise Resort Tenerife is conceived as a place of rhythm, attentiveness, and restoration.

Here, wellness is shaped by the essence of the island, salty ocean air, shifting light, and the slow passage of time guiding a return to elemental balance. Architecture, landscape, and sound dissolve into a single sensory field, allowing body and mind to settle naturally.

Rooted in the philosophy of The Atlantic Crossroads, the spa reflects centuries of exchange between continents, cultures, and healing traditions. Treatments draw from land and sea, mineral and botanical, touch and time, translated into contemporary, understated practices that cultivate a sense of well-being that endures long after departure.
